

 New — Clears the entire board and starts a fresh session. It wipes all rows, resets the date to today, and gives you 10 blank rows. It prompts you to confirm first and reminds you to Save a JSON backup before clearing.

 Read — Imports leads from a door-knocking session JSON file (exported from your doorknock.html tool). It reads the door-knock format — pulling address, name, phone, temperature, follow-up date, and all detail fields — combines street number with street name, skips duplicates that already exist in your follow-up list, and slots new leads into empty rows or appends them at the bottom.

 Add — Imports leads from another follow-up JSON file (exported from this same tool). It appends non-duplicate records from the file into your current session. This is useful for merging two follow-up lists together — for example, combining leads from different sources or time periods into one master list.

In short: New = blank slate, Read = import from door-knock, Add = merge from another follow-up file.
